

Greater Valley Area Chamber of Commerce Native American Heritage Festival and Pow Wow

The 2014 Greater Valley Area Chamber of Commerce is proud to present its first annual celebration of Native American culture with two days full of entertainment, demonstrations, and educational events and activities.

Hosted by the

In Partnership With

October 17 & 18, 2014
Chambers County Agricultural Arena
U.S. 43 I, LaFayette, AL

East Meets West

An educational and entertaining comparison of Eastern Woodlands Indians and Western Tribes demonstrating primitive lifestyle to the 1800s. Static display of a Full Encampments of both peoples as well as Staged Performances!!

Demonstrator Displays

Demonstrators will establish period correct activities to show how Native Americans made tools, musical instruments, primitive weapons, and other necessities of life.

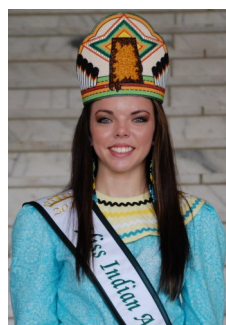

Luck of the Draw Dances

Dancers of all ages, skill levels, and styles compete openly in social and category dances for prize money. Winners are determined by a blind draw of the Dancers number and the amount of the award is determined by blind draw of envelopes with varying amounts designated.

2014
Miss Indian Alabama
Cassidy Hood

Competition Dance

Dancers compete for Recognition of their skill is specific dance categories in appropriate regalia. Total of up to $5,000.00 in prize money.

NOTE TO DANCERS: All dancers wishing to compete for Luck-Of-The-Draw AND/OR Competition Dance prize money MUST be in full regalia and participate in all social dances during the day they wish to compete and the Grand Entry on the 18th. All Competition Dancers MUST pre-register by category for the competition dances scheduled for October 18, 2014 prior to the Grand Entry on the 18th.

Social Dance

The general public is invited to celebrate with native dancers in the circle. Dancers dance with and assist those who desire to learn the steps. There is no right or wrong in a social dance and many styles are Mixed in the circle. Dancers with skill levels ranging from nationally ranked to first timer's enjoy each others fellowship in a celebration on native culture.